```
1 display: flex;
2 justify-content: center;
3 align-items: cen...
```

. To the right, there's a small screenshot of a game showing a knight character in a green landscape.
